Instructions

This report is confidential and its contents are intended to assist in the prediction of an applicant's work behaviour. Please note that the assessment components included in this solution report are not weighted equally. Some of the components are broad measures of behaviour and some are more narrow. Competencies denoted by an asterisk (*) are measures of narrow behaviours. While these behaviours are important to the overall score, they are not weighted as heavily when compared to other components in this solution. Our research indicates this weighting best predicts job performance. ### Management Potential

This is a measure of the potential for managerial success across industry type and functional area. This is characterised by scores that are derived from responses to questions regarding academic and social background, and aspirations concerning work.

The candidate's response profile concerning past achievements, social orientation, and work orientation is not similar to the profiles of highly effective managers. The poor match between the profiles suggests that the candidate is not likely to be a successful manager.

Responsibility

This component measures the tendency of a person's responsibility for his/her own actions and a commitment to performing assigned tasks. This trait is characterised by: reliability; proactive involvement in work; and a dedication to complete even the most mundane tasks.

This candidate is likely to appear unreliable, preferring to put off or avoid challenging tasks and less interesting work. As a result, the candidate may fail to plan appropriately, is likely to procrastinate, and may tend to lag behind in completing difficult assignments. The candidate may become easily distracted and may struggle to work on mundane or routine tasks without direct oversight from his/her manager.

Achievement

This component measures the tendency to set and accomplish challenging goals, while persisting in the face of significant obstacles. This trait is characterised by: working hard; taking satisfaction and pride in producing high-quality work; and being competitive.

The candidate is likely to avoid challenging goals and projects, preferring to work only as hard as is necessary to complete tasks. The candidate may display little initiative and will tend to give up easily when confronted with obstacles. The candidate is unlikely to be motivated by peer competition or ambitious deadlines, and may appear to lack an appropriate degree of urgency in approaching his/her work.

Willingness to Learn

This component measures the tendency to learn from experience. This trait is characterised by: being open to new experiences, seeking both positive and negative feedback, looking back on past experiences and considering alternate courses of action, and finding patterns and order in complex information.

The candidate is likely to prefer familiar tasks and experiences. The candidate is unlikely to seek out feedback on his/her performance and may not react constructively when given negative feedback. The candidate is unlikely to learn from past experiences and thus is likely to repeat mistakes. The candidate demonstrates a below average ability to identify patterns in complex information and is unlikely to apply past experiences to future problems.

Accepts others*

This measures the extent to which the candidate is non-judgemental and appreciates different viewpoints.

This candidate may feel uncomfortable with people who have differing viewpoints and may make judgements about others based on appearance or background.
