Instructions

This report is confidential and its contents are intended to assist in the prediction of an applicant's work behavior. Please note that the assessment components included in this solution report are not weighted equally. Some of the components are broad measures of behavior and some are more narrow. Competencies denoted by an asterisk (*) are measures of narrow behaviors. While these behaviors are important to the overall score, they are not weighted as heavily when compared to other components in this solution. Our research indicates this weighting best predicts job performance. Management Potential

This is a measure of the potential for managerial success across industry type and functional area. This is characterized by scores that are derived from responses to questions regarding academic and social background, and aspirations concerning work.

The candidate's response profile concerning past achievements, social orientation, and work orientation is not similar to the profiles of highly effective managers. The poor match between the profiles suggests that the candidate is not likely to be a successful manager.

Responsibility

This component measures the tendency of a person's responsibility for his/her own actions and a commitment to performing assigned tasks. This trait is characterized by: reliability; proactive involvement in work; and a dedication to complete even the most mundane tasks.

This candidate is likely to appear unreliable, preferring to put off or avoid challenging tasks and less interesting work. As a result, the candidate may fail to plan appropriately, will likely procrastinate, and may tend to lag behind in completing difficult assignments. The candidate may become easily distracted and may struggle to work on mundane or routine tasks without direct oversight from his/her manager.

Achievement

This component measures the tendency to set and accomplish challenging goals, while persisting in the face of significant obstacles. This trait is characterized by: working hard; taking satisfaction and pride in producing high-quality work; and being competitive.

The candidate is likely to accept moderately challenging goals, but is less likely to take on aggressive projects without specific prodding. The candidate may persist for a time in working through obstacles, but may tend to give up in the face of significant challenges. The candidate shows an average level of competitiveness and a moderate intensity in his/her work.

Willingness to Learn

This component measures the tendency to learn from experience. This trait is characterized by: being open to new experiences, seeking both positive and negative feedback, looking back on past experiences and considering alternate courses of action, and finding patterns and order in complex information.

The candidate is likely to prefer familiar tasks and experiences. The candidate is unlikely to seek out feedback on his/her performance and may react unconstructively when given negative feedback. The candidate is unlikely to learn from past experiences and thus is likely to repeat mistakes. The candidate demonstrates a below average ability to identify patterns in complex information and is unlikely to apply past experiences to future problems.

Accepts others*

This measures the extent to which the candidate is non-judgmental and appreciates different viewpoints.

This candidate may feel uncomfortable with people who have differing viewpoints and may make judgments about others based on appearance or background.

Shows courtesy*

This measures the extent to which the candidate is patient, polite and respectful.

This candidate may miss opportunities to treat others with the highest respect.

Maintains good working relationships*

This measures the extent to which the candidate puts effort into developing good relationships with others.

This candidate may not place a high value on their work relationships and may be less likely to act in ways that strengthen these relationships over time.

Analyzes information*

This measures the extent to which the candidate identifies key factors and integrates information to understand data or situations.

This candidate may avoid tasks that involve analyzing information, find it challenging to do so, or are slow to make progress while doing so.

Learns quickly*

This measures the extent to which the candidate picks up new information and techniques easily.

This candidate may have difficulty absorbing new information, and need time for contemplation before fully understanding it.

Works to high quality standards*

This measures the extent to which the candidate completes every task with a high degree of quality.

This candidate may not be conscious of the quality of their work, and can be satisfied with a task even if everything is not done properly.

Complies with rules and regulations*

This measures the extent to which the candidate adheres to rules, guidelines and procedures.

This candidate may see rules and regulations as general guidelines rather than policies that need to be adhered to consistently.

Adapts to change*

This measures the extent to which the candidate accepts and adapts to changes without difficulty.

This candidate may be uncomfortable with changes in their work environment, and take longer to adapt to new changes.

Controls emotions*

This measures the extent to which the candidate keeps negative emotions under control.

As with most candidates, this candidate is likely to be challenged by difficult situations and may at times have to work hard to hide their negative reactions.

Works energetically*

This measures the extent to which the candidate keeps busy at work and enjoys taking on new responsibilities.

This candidate will likely prefer a full workload or schedule that keeps them busy most of the time, and will take on new responsibilities as long as they do not become too taxing or demanding.
